Recruitment 2014

For frontend web development

Participants have to design a full website for SRM University using HTML, CSS, Javascript. The website will should contain following

1. They should be having at least 3-4 .html pages well connected to each other

2. Theme of website can be anything ranging from parallax to simple use of CSS and JS

3. Content of the site can be taken from the original web site

While designing the website participants should show their creative skills and they can use any amount of animation using any library of javascript

Website should be visually appealing, user-friendly and should be more and more functional. UI designed should be self-explanatory to the users.